Mission Statement

Columbia Pastoral Counseling Center is a non-profit service supported by client fees and congregations of the Presbyterian Church (USA). It is our mission is to offer counseling for persons struggling with life issues and to offer opportunities for spiritual growth and wellness.

Spiritual Direction

Spiritual Direction is a confidential one-on-one relationship between client and Guide. Clients explore their personal spiritual formation and growth and their prayer life. Clients may examine their total life in relationship with God and receive guidance in prayer practice and listening for the stirring of God's Spirit.

Spiritual Direction is not a time to address crisis in one's life that more appropriately needs the focused attention of counseling or therapy.

Tom Glenn is an ordained Presbyterian (USA) minister. He earned his Master of Divinity degree as well as Diploma in Art of Spiritual Direction from San Francisco Theological Seminary and his Doctor of Ministry degree from McCormick Theological Seminary.
