

Enoch on the Energy of Money

April 2008

The following is a channeled message from my guide group who call themselves Enoch - a group of non-physical beings who use me as their conduit to anchor the energies of expansion and service.

Although this channeling is what came forth based on an individual who asked for some direction regarding a financial decision, that question was the vehicle to bring forward wisdom that is applicable to all of us.

When directed by my guide group, and based on the consent of the individual asking the question, I record the wisdom that comes forth and transcribe it verbatim. I know it is not my job to censor what comes through - monthly channeling group - the grammar - and words and phrasing that are not familiar to us

Enoch is showing a visual - an image of a being - a human being - as an analogy, standing in front of you - and this being has 10 arms, and at the end of each arm is a hand with something in it for you.

And Enoch says: "It is an interesting time to be speaking about the energy of money. This topic is very prevalent for humans in your particular country at this time - this time you also call tax time. There are many perspectives on this energy of money. There are some that have anger and frustration to be paying out money at this time. There are others that are thrilled to be receiving the energy of money at this time - and every spectrum in between.

It is interesting to observe the difference in the way humans feel and think about the energy of money as opposed to the energy of other things in their life. There is a different type of value put on the energy of money, and yet your currency, be it paper or metal, is yet another form of energy exchange. There are so many rules and regulations and guidelines and laws around this exchange of energy. It has become much more than the symbol, as it originated.

Because of the Law of Attraction as you now know it to be called, the best thing that can be done with the energy of money is to keep it moving. That is the key to any energy - its movement. There is nothing that is stagnant - even money. Even when you have money, whether it be in your pocket, or in your bank account, it is still the movement of energy. Even though at times it appears to be unmoving, it is still a form of energy.

The more you allow this energy into your life, the more you allow this energy to flow through your life, and back out of your life - in ways that bring you joy, in ways that bring you delight - then the easier you will find it to be to create this flow of energy - this energy of money, coming into, through and out of your life. So when you are making decisions around the energy of money, look to how it makes you feel. Look to what can bring you joy. Look to what can bring you comfort - and as this energy of money has its ability to bring you joy, comfort, ease, peace - these are what feed your soul. So, as with other types of energy, use this energy of money to feed your soul. If it feeds your soul and it can feed other's souls as well, even better a decision this will be.

You have the opportunity to feed your soul and the souls of others in this transaction that you are contemplating. This is the choice that would bring you all the most joy - for you all involved in this moving energy of money to be able to obtain, to be able to purchase what it is you desire in your lives. This is the true joy of money. To keep it moving - to keep its energy alive. To use it for its intended purpose: to bring joy and abundance into, through, and out of your life. To keep this energy - this moving energy of abundance - flowing through the world and amongst humans.

So look to this to help you make your decision - your mental processing decision. Use your logic of course - we never recommend against that - but then also be in touch with your heart, your body, your emotions, your soul. Look at how this movement of this energy called money, called currency, can benefit yourself and others, and this is the true purpose for which humans developed the concept of money in the first place. Rather than hoarding money, holding onto money, being in fear about not having enough money - these are the things that cause the stagnation of the energy of money. These are the things that limit the flow of energy into your life.

So be open, be in flow with the currency - the energy of money. Be grateful as it comes into your life. Be grateful as it flows onto others. There are many humans that are focused solely on the income of money and yet are very angered at the outgo of money. We say to you be thrilled, rejoice that you have an income of money to outflow. Rejoice that you can keep this energy of money moving.

This energy of money - of currency - can have a very low vibration if it is approached from fear, and it can have a very high vibration if it is approached from joy, and flow, and energy exchange. So shift your perceptions from the fear of lack, to the joy of flow of energy, and you will recognize and experience quite a different sensation. You will be thrilled to be able to purchase the things that you enjoy - be they experiences, be they learning, be they things that you enjoy to have around you, be they helping others as well. So look for this high vibrational flow of the energy of money and you will find it coming into your life more quickly, more easily, in flow with what you desire.

This is what you have been experiencing recently in this reawakening of all these different methods that you have, that you know, that you possess, to be able to bring the flow of the energy of money into and through your life. This allows you to contemplate doing and being many things that you enjoy.

So reach for this higher vibration. Allow the creativity to find ways to bring the flow of money to you, and through you - to bring you comfort, joy, peace, enthusiasm and excitement. This is what will bring the flow to you, and through you, and on from you to others. This is the joy of the energy of money."
